DEATH OF F. P. CARLETON.

Was Formerly in Law Practice in Barre—Died in Springfield, Mass.

Frederick P. Carleton, who practiced law in Barre from 1890 to 1892, and later removed to Montpelier, where he was for 15 years city attorney, died Sunday in a hospital in Springfield, Mass., following a month's illness with typhoid fever, which developed ulcers and peritonitis. An operation was performed for his relief Saturday, but without avail. The body was brought to Montpelier for interment in Green Mount cemetery this afternoon.

Mr. Carleton was born in Waitsfield Nov. 3, 1866, the son of Judge Hiram and Mary E. (Pope) Carleton. He attended school in Montpelier, and then studied law in the office of his father. In 1889 he was admitted to the bar, and the following year, when Judge F. J. Martin was also admitted to the bar, they formed a partnership and practiced law together in this city for two years. Then Mr. Carleton opened an office in Montpelier and became a member of the law firm of Lord & Carleton. During the 15 years when he was Montpelier city attorney, he appeared in many important city cases and rendered the city much service. He was a prominent Democrat. About five years ago he left Montpelier and since then had been employed in the law office of Ballard & Weston in Springfield. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, his mother and a sister.

Barre City has a grand total of 368 motorized vehicles in operation, according to the figures presented in the recently issued registry of the Vermont Automobile association. Exclusive of agents' cars is this total and when the 21 motor-cycles are deducted from the aggregate it will be found that there are no less than 347 automobiles owned and operated by people residing within the city limits. Irrespective of price, horsepower or obnoxious nomenclature sometimes applied to antiquated autos, they all go down in the secretary's book, where the alderman's car is not to be distinguished from that of the clerk, not even with the strongest spectacles. Four dealers, handling eight kinds of cars, are registered in the book. Ten cars were registered from Barre after June 1.

VERMONTERS TO MOBILIZE WEDNESDAY

hem's, the name of Gibson led all the rest. He is a bellhop at the hotel and was on the grounds early when the recruiting master arrived. It is stated that Messrs. Berry and Ogston are enlisting men for the cavalry unit of the first Vermont regiment, first squadron, which is shy of men just now. The squadron expects to do post duty at Fort Ethan Allen this summer, unless there is a change in arrangements, and the opportunities for service and training are likened by the recruiting officers to the military camp established this month at Plattsburg, across the lake.
